Vienna, Octob. 27. N.S. Laſt Night the Court returned from Presbourg. A Medal has been ſtruck on the Occaſion of the Empreſs's Coronation there, having on one ſide her Majeſty's Head with this Inſcription, Eliz. Chriſt. Aug. Regin. Hiſp. Hung. Boh. on the Reverſe is the Globe of the Earth, and a Star over it, repreſenting the Morning and Evening Star, with this Motto, Occidui Decus & Orientis, alluding to Spain the moſt Weſtern, and Hungary the moſt Eaſtern Kingdom of Europe. It is intended that her Majeſty ſhall alſo be crowned Queen of Bohemia next Summer: One Reaſon of theſe Coronations is, that if the Empreſs ſhould outlive the Emperor, ſhe may be intitled to certain Annuities which thoſe Kingdoms are obliged to pay to ſuch Royal Widows as have been crowned. The Town of Eſperies in Hungary being wholly Proteſtant, the Jeſuits engaged a Papiſt lately who had a Houſe in the Place, to buy ſome adjacent Houſes, and then to transfer his Purchaſe to them: This being done, thoſe Buildings were pulled down, and a Popiſh Church was begun to be built on that Ground: The Proteſtants complaining of this Innovation, the Matter was referred to be examined and decided by Prince Eugene, who has given his Determination in favour of the Proteſtants: Accordingly Orders are ſent for demoliſhing what was erected of the ſaid Church, and for removing all the Materials off the Ground. Prince Eugene has received Advice from the Count de Steinville, Governor of Tranſylvania,
